HI-TECH DSPIC HI-TECH C Compiler for PIC24 MCUs and dsPICDSCs [German]Microsoft has just confirmed that some Windows systems may experience problems with printers after the September 2019 updates has been installed.. Issue confirmed for all Windows versionsMeanwhile Microsoft has confirmed this error in the Windows 10 V1903 status page (my colleagues noticed this, because I haven't found anything in the KB articles yet).. Specifically, the spooler service for the printers crashes, causing no printers to be detected by applications. So everything that my blog readers have also reported here as comments to my posts.. 1; Windows 7 SP1Server: Windows Server, Version 1903; Windows Server, Version 1809; Windows Server 2019; Windows Server, Version 1803; Windows Server, Version 1709; Windows Server 2016; Windows Server 2012 R2; Windows Server 2012; Windows Server 2012; Windows Server 2008 R2 SP1; Windows Server 2008 SP2Microsoft is working on a solution and plans to release an update for Windows in future.. Microsoft writes with date September 30, 2019:Intermittent issues when printingThe print spooler service may intermittently have issues completing a print job and may result in a print job being canceled or failing.. And in contrast to the comments, which I got here in the blog, users of Windows 7 SP1, Windows 8..
Currently uninstalling update KB4517211 may solve the issue At this point I took a closer look at the Microsoft article, because this issue doesn't hit all users. cea114251b Winston Salem White Pages Directory
